

Write your own version of "This is Just to Say"

Follow this pattern. You may have to change some words for the grammar to make sense. Use as many simple (one and two syllable) words as you can, limit each line to three or four syllables, and use no punctuation.

I have (verb)
the (noun)
that (describe the noun)

and which you were probably (something your audience was going to do with the noun)

Forgive me
 (simple adjective)
so (adjective)
and so (adjective)

Example:

I have asked
the girl to prom
who is in our English class

and with whom you were probably falling
in love

Forgive me
she is wonderful
so sweet
and so warm
